

2025 Spring Newsletter

LLRC GRADUATE STUDENT

◆
9 May 2025

By Jennifer Bates, Yina Liu, Emily Mannard,
Shaghayegh Bahrami, and Jia Wei

Welcome to the LLRC graduate students' spring newsletter!

In this edition, you will find several writing opportunities, as well as information on the CSSE conference.

We hope to share more opportunities/events for graduate students in our upcoming newsletters, so please don't hesitate to send these to either Yina Liu at yina@ualberta.ca or Jenn Bates at jbates@trentu.ca.

With the continued goal of networking and collaboration among our members, we would also like to share that LLRC has a Facebook group. We encourage you to follow here.

Bienvenue dans le bulletin de printemps des étudiant·e·s diplômé·e·s du ACCLL !

Dans cette édition, vous trouverez plusieurs opportunités d'écriture ainsi que des informations sur le congrès de la SCÉE.

Nous espérons pouvoir partager encore plus d'opportunités et d'événements pour les étudiant·e·s diplômé·e·s dans nos prochains bulletins. N'hésitez donc pas à les envoyer soit à Yina Liu (yina@ualberta.ca) soit à Jenn Bates (jbates@trentu.ca).

Dans le but de favoriser le réseautage et la collaboration entre nos membres, nous souhaitons également vous informer que le ACCLL dispose d'un groupe Facebook. Nous vous encourageons à le suivre ici.

In this newsletter
you can expect:

Introduction

[Writing
Opportunities](#)

[Updates on
CSSE](#)

Writing Opportunities

Invitation to Contribute SFU Educational

SFU Educational Review is a student-led, peer-reviewed journal that promotes educational insights particularly from emerging researchers. It aims to advance diverse forms of knowledge by serving as a forum of open discussion and critical engagement with current issues in education. We are inviting submissions for our upcoming issues in 2025! We welcome original research, reflective pieces, book reviews, and creative contributions. This is an excellent opportunity for new voices—emerging scholars and educational practitioners—to share insights, engage with the academic community, and contribute to advancing educational discourse. We seek submissions that address diverse themes in education. All submissions will undergo a rigorous double-blind peer-review process. For submission guidelines, please visit our website or contact us at sfuedreview@gmail.com. We look forward to receiving your contributions and supporting the work of emerging voices in education.

Invitation to Contribute to ELAN's blog

The English Language Arts Network of Ontario aims to establish a sustained learning community networking English Language Arts and Media educators from grades 1-12 across the province of Ontario via diverse networks of communication such as online communications, virtual resources, webinars, and conferences.

ELAN's blog "Making Meaning in the 21st century" aims to share current research and resources for language arts educators. With the goal of demonstrating how to implement best practices in education, the blog seeks content in the following areas:

- Emerging Technologies
- Learner Exceptionalities
- Multiliteracies
- Structured Pedagogical approaches to literacy
- Teacher Efficacy
- Critical Literacy

For all inquiries please email:

jbates@trentu.ca

Upcoming Conference

Why attend the Congress?

Congress is Canada's largest academic gathering, with nearly 10,000 scholars, apprentices, graduate students, policymakers and community members from across the country. This is a great opportunity to showcase your work, learn about the latest academic research and connect with the research community.

Where & When?

The 94th edition of Congress will take place at George Brown College's St. James and Waterfront campuses in downtown Toronto from Saturday, May 31 (preconference day) to Thursday, June 5 (postconference day). The online presentations will occur on Tuesday, June 10, for those unable to attend in person.

Why attend the Congress?

Congress is Canada's largest academic gathering, with nearly 10,000 scholars, apprentices, graduate students, policymakers and community members from across the country. This is a great opportunity to showcase your work, learn about the latest academic research and connect with the research community.

Where & When?

The 94th edition of Congress will take place at GBC's St. James and Waterfront campuses in downtown Toronto from Saturday, May 31 (preconference day) to Thursday, June 5 (postconference day). The online presentations will occur on Tuesday, June 10, for those unable to attend in person.

How to Register?

Registration for the CSSE Conference is now open.

Please use the link to the registration portal: <https://fhss.swoogo.com/registration-2025-inscription>

Detailed information on how to reach the venue and options for accommodation is available here: <https://www.federationhss.ca/en/congress/plan-your-trip>

Travel Assistance

CSSE offers travel support to graduate students attending the CSSE conference. Detailed information about the travel assistance is available on this link:

<https://www.federationhss.ca/en/congress/travel-transportation>